Subject:- Indian Administrative Service- Allotment of candidates selected on the results of the annual competitive examinations to the various States- Proposal for the allotment of at least one 'non-Provincial' to each State cadre so as to maintain the all-India character of the Service.

Sir,

With reference to the correspondence resting with the Ministry of Home Affairs letter No.20/6/48-G.S., dated the 15th September 1949, on the above subject, and your reply thereto, I am directed to say that the replies received from the various State Governments indicate that there is practical unanimity in favour of adopting the limited modification in the principle of allotment of candidates to the various State cadres of the Indian Administrative Service suggested by the Government of India i.e. as far as possible at least one candidate not belonging to the State should be allotted to each State cadre every year, and where the annual recruitment rate is only one, a candidate not belonging to the State should be allotted every alternate year. The Government of India have therefore decided to accept this modified principle of allotment of candidates successful at the annual competitive examinations for recruitment to the Indian Administrative Service begining from the allotments on the results of the 1949 Examination. The allotments of individual candidates to the State Indian Administrative Service cadres will of course continue to be made in consultation with the State Government concerned, as at present.

Is the idea that the rule shd
also be for Part B States also?
I should like an from them first.

Yours faithfully,

Copy of letter No.20/6/48-C.S., dated the 15th September 1949 from the Ministry of Home Affairs, New Delhi, to the Chief Secretaries to all Provincial Governments.

Subject:- Indian Administrative Service - Proposal that allotments of Indian Administrative Service Probationers to the Provinces should be so made as to maintain the All-India character of the Service.

I am directed to refer to para 4 of the Memorandum regarding the constitution of the Indian Administrative Service, a copy of which was forwarded with the Ministry of Home Affairs letter No.45/31/47-Ests(R), dated the 15th December, 1947. At present, according to the procedure laid down therein, candidates selected for appointment to the Indian Administrative Service are, as far as possible, alloted to their Province of origin or domicile. Suggestions have been made from time to time by officials as well as non-officials advocating the adoption of the principle that so far as the upper Services are concerned, selected candidates should be posted to Provinces other than their own in order to ensure that the upper Civil Services are free from local bias or connections and thus become an effective instrument for the execution of policy settled by Government without being prejudiced by local, regional or other narrow loyalties. While there is considerable force in this view, it is doubtful whether it would be wise or possible to make an abrupt change in the existing practice. It has, therefore, been suggested that a beginning might be made by adopting the modified procedure of allotting at least one non-provincial candidate to each province every year as far as possible, and where the figure of annual normal recruitment is only one, the allotment of a non-provincial should be made in alternate years. The allotments will of course be made after consultation with the Provincial Governments as at present. I am to request that (i) the comments of the Provincial Government on the question of the principle to be followed in making allotments to Provinces referred to above, and (ii) their concurrence in the limited modification in the existing procedure which has been proposed to begin with, may be communicated to the Government of India as early as possible.
